FURTHER GAINS FOR ALLIES IN WEST TODAY

LONG EXPECTED OFFENSIVE MOVEMENT STARTED SATURDAY CONTINUES

TAKE MORE GERMAN POSITIONS

German Lines Penetrated At Places To Depth Of Over Two Miles

(Associated Press)

The tremendous struggle in the western theater of the war which was inaugurated Saturday with a new offensive movement by the entente allies has resulted in further successes for their arms.

Take More Positions

Paris reports today additional German positions have been occupied in the Champagne district, where their initial drive the French penetrated the German lines along a battle front, fifteen miles in length, to a depth in some places of two and one-half miles.

All gains in the Artois regions, where Souchez was captured and other advances were scored, have been maintained.

Take 20,000 Prisoners.

In the pats two days' fighting the French and British have gained far greater results than in the preceding 12 months, since the battle of Marne, says London. With 25,000 German prisoners taken and most formidable breaches made in the German lines, the allies apparently have their long expected advance under way.

Gain In Southwest.

Reports from the southwest theatre claim a striking victory over the Austro-Germans and the capture of one thousand prisoners.

May Change Plans.

It is believed in London that the failure of nearly two million strongly entrenched Germans to prevent an advance of the allies in France will react immediately on any plans the German general staff may have formed for new attacks in the south or southeast.

German Counter Claims.

Wireless dispatches say it has been announced in Berlin that one British warship was sunk and two others were damaged in an attack by a British squadron on the German batteries along the Belgian coast, especially at Zeebrug, simultaneously with the launching of the allies' new offense. Berlin also announces the capture of more than 5,000 French and British prisoners and a number of machine guns in the land fighting.

Greek Requisition Ships.

Twenty merchant vsseels have been requisitioned by the Greek government for the transportation of troops, of whom 40,000 have been called to the colors. There is little activity in the Dardanelles.

Offensive Is Stopped

Berlin has officiallly announced that the allies' offensive in the neighborhood of Lille, France, has been brought to a stop by fierce counter attacks. The British attack at other sources is also said to have broken down.

Turks Make Gains

Constantinople claims that the Turs have recaptured a part of the positions on their left wing at Ana Farta which had been occupied by the allies.

Move Headquarters

Amsterdam states that Emperor William will move his headquarters to Luxemberg in October.

Report Ultimatum

It is reported that Bulgaria has sent an ultimatum to Serbia.

AUTO PLUNGED DOWN STEEP EMBANKMENT NORTH OF THIS CITY

S. J. MALL AND W. T. HARRISON VICTIMS OF ACCIDENT ON NORTH GALENA AVE.

MALL PINCHED ABOUT CHEST

May Be Internally Hurt — Machine Turned Completely Over In Roll.

W. T. Harrison, 318 Lincolnway, and Samuel J. Mall, 329 Lincolnway, had narrow escapes from serious injury when the Harrison automobile, in which they had started to Polo, plunged over the steep embankment along the west side of Galena avenue, north of the Illinois Central tracks, at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. Harrison escaped injury, but Mr. Mall was pinched about the chest and it is possible he may have suffered some internal injuries which may make their presence known later

After they had cross the tracks Mr. Mall stood up in the car to put on his coat. The coat caught on the back of the seat and Mr. Harrison, who was driving, turned and attempted to loosen it with one hand, while steering with the other. An instant later the left front wheel slid over the edge of the incline and the car turned completely over on its trip down the steep bank.

The top was up and this is what probably saved the occupants from serious injury. Aside from the broken top and windshield and badly bent fender the car was not damaged materially.

WAR SHARES ADVANCE WITH ALLIES' GAINS

STOCK EXCHANGE SHOWS BROADEST MOVEMENT SINCE WAR BEGAN.

(Associated Press)

New York, Sept. 27—War shares and stocks of other companies participating in contracts with the allies soared to new heights on the New York Stock Exchange today. The movement became the broadest since the outbreak of the war and carried the general list with it. The allies' gains in the west is a big factor in the advance.

Baldwin Locomotive Co. advanced 11 points. It is rumored the company may be absorbed by one of the larger industrial corporations whose war contracts have tested its capacity beyond the limit. United States steel rose from 1½ to 79½, its highest points since 1912.

TEARFUL SCENES AS RESCUERS BRING BODIES TO SURFACE IN SUBWAY DISASTER.

COPYRIGHTED 1915 BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

[For hours after the disaster firemen and police reserves from every station in New York sought bodies of victims who were caught when the entire construction work of the new subway in Seventh avenue, between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth streets, collapsed, following the premature explosion of a large blast of dynamite. The entire block caved in, and a trolley car crowded with people on their way to work was dropped into the chasm formed by the collapse of the shoring of the street. All along the block between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth streets the fronts of the buildings collapsed and fell into the cave-in. To add to the terrors of the disaster a fire started, underground where the car plunged through the street, and two alarms of fire summoned the apparatus. The work of rescue was promptly begun, and scores of policemen rushed to the scene. The trolley car that fell through is said to have contained at least fifty passengers, mostly shopgirls on their way to work. A cordon of police was thrown around the entire scene and more were hurried there to keep back the enormous crowds on their way to work.]

THREE NEIGHBORING COUNTIES AFFECTED

LASALLE, BUREAU AND PUTNAM COUNTIES PLACED UNDER QUARANTINE.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24—The counties of LaSalle, Bureau and Putnam, Illinois, are placed in closed quarantine against foot and mouth disease by an order of the United States Department of Agriculture, effective Sept. 25, 1915.

This action is taken owing to the discovery of the disease in two herds in LaSalle county. One of these herds, containing 65 cattle, was found in a community pasture and the fact that the herd belonged to twelve different owners has led the authorities to quarantine the adjoining counties with a view to checking its further spread.

OLD BLOCK HOUSE LOCATED BY MANY

MRS. DOROTHY LAW REPLIES TO F. E. STEVENS' CRITICISM OF HER ARTICLE

D.A.R. HEADED INVESTIGATION

Says Several Who Knew Old Block House Agreed On Its Location

Editor—The writer of the article in the Dixon Evening Telegraph of Sept. 24, which was most severly criticized by Mr. Frank E. Stevens, did not pretend to write a life of Abraham Lincoln, but to mention a few incidents that might have bearing on his career during the Black Hawk war, and which seemed fitting to the subject under consideration; viz: the marking of the location of the old fort or block house.

This was undertaken fourteen years ago by the Daughters of the American Revolution, after they had placed a bronz tablet upon a brick building on Peoria avenue to mark the site upon which stood the log

CRIPPLED BOY WAS KILLED; HIS SISTER CARRIED HIS BODY

JAMES CLARK, AGED FOUR, VICTIM OF COLLISION SATURDAY EVENING

AUTO AND BUGGY COLLIDED

Neither Machine, Driven By George Dillow, Or Buggy Turned Out Enough

(Special to the Tele[illegible])

Ashton, Sept. 27— James Robert Clark, aged nearly four, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Clark who reside six miles southeast of Ashton, was instantly killed at about 6:30 o'clock Saturday evening, when the buggy in which he and his nine year old sister Luella were driving south from their home to meet their father, was struck by an automobile driven by George Dillow of Broklyn township.

Neither Turned Far Enough

The evidence of the circumstances attendant the accident, as produced at the inquest as held by Coroner George Stephan Sunday morning, tends to show that neither Mr. Dillow, who was accompanied by his wife, his son and Mr. and Mrs. Hendricks of West Brooklyn, nor the victim's sister, turned out far enough when the two vehicles attempted to pass in the road.

Boy Killed Instantly

The auto struck the buggy squarely on the left front wheel and the evidence shows that simultaneously the horse jumped to the right. It is the supposition that both occupants of the buggy were thrown over the automobile; for before the members of the auto party could reach the little girl and boy, the sister had picked her brother up and was carrying him to the machine. His death had been instantaneous.

Little James was crippled in one leg, as the result of an attack of meningitis when he was a baby, and the condition may have been the cause of his being thrown in such a manner as to produce death, as the little girl was not badly hurt.

Short funeral services will be held at the Clark home at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning following which the remains will be taken to Amboy and thence to Delavan, Ill., for burial in the family lot.

HEAVY FINES FOR RACING AUTO DRIVERS

KENT PASSED JUDGMENT ON WILSON, CARTWRIGHT AND HERMSMEIER.

TWO FINED $150; OTHER $100

Court's Opinion Condemns Carelessness Which Endangers Others.

Horace Cartwright of Oregon, William Hermsmeier of Freeport and Ray Wilson of Polo, drivers of the automobiles in Labor day's automobile accident, were sentenced to pay heavy fines by Police Magistrate Kent this morning, following the submission of the case of Hermsmeier on the evidence which had been taken in the proceedings against Wilson.

In his opinion Magistrate Kent held that each of the three was driving his car at a speed in violation of the state laws, and he fined Hermsmeier and Wilson $150 and costs each, while Cartwright's fine was made $100 and costs in view of the fact that he had pleaded guilty.

The Court's Opinion.

The court's findings and sentence is:

"Unfortunately the result of human carelessness has to be brought to the attention of the public by disaster, and laws for the protection and safety of the masses are practically ignored until these same masses are rudely awakened by an accident producing life disfigurement, suffering or death to some dear ones.

"The imposition of small fines for speeding locally has unfortunately begotten harsh criticism and unjust suggestions of personal malice on the part of officials who endeavor to do their duty by enforcing the criminal laws. The same class of people, when a serious accident occurs, will howl because a punishment is not inflicted which is away beyond the maximum penalty authoried by law. This is human nature.

"Day after day in our own beautiful city the motor vehicle laws are flagrantly violated despite the honest efforts of our efficient police force.

"The evidence in these cases which are to be decided by the Court thanks to the prompt attention by the city officials, is very clear and remains undisputed.

"There is not the slightest doubt that each of the three cars concerned were being driven at a speed in violation of the statute which provides a penalty for driving an automobile at a speed "greater than is reasonable and proper having regard to the traffic and the use of the way so as to endanger the life and limb or injure the property of any person.'

"As to the defendants Wm. Hermsmeier and Ralph Wilson, the drivers of the two cars going north at the time of the accident, there is more than a suspicion that they were racing and the finding of bottled beer from a Freeport brewery at the scene immediately after the accident does not lessen that suspicion. Forty miles an hour was the speed several witnesses testified that in their opinion these two cars were traveling.

"As to the defendant Horace Cartwright, who pleads guilty to the charge the evidence does not show that he had any intoxicating liquor aboard and also tends to show that he reduced the speed of his machine when approaching the intersection where the accident occurred.

"The evidence as to speed by this defendant in the opinion of the bystanders, ranges from eighteen to forty miles an hour.

OLIVES.

The olive is a fruit with the manners of a pickle. It belongs to one of the oldest familiies and was mentioned in literature two thousand years before the alligator pear was invented.

The olive grows on a dusty colored tree and prefers countries which are dryer than Kansas after a local option election. It has two specialties—producing oil and puckers. When the olive is eaten in its green state it acts upon the human frame like an unripe persimmon and ties the face of the eater into an exceedingly hard knot. Eating a fresh young olive newly plucked from the tree is more unpleasant than eating a few words addressed to the boss in a moment of anger.

When the olive is plucked at the proper time and squeezed in a sort of prehistoric cider mill it produces olive oil. Most of the characters mentioned in the Bible had olive oil for a steady diet. There are many tribes today in old and dusty portions of the earth which would dry up and blow away if they were not moistened regularly with olive oil.

The olive tree originally grew only around the Mediterranean Sea, but like every other good thing has emigrated to America and can now be found in vast numbers in California. It is not a large tree, rarely attaining a height over twenty-five feet. However it consumes several hundred years in getting its growth. Nothing is more permanent in the fruit line than an olive orchard. The armies of the B. C.'s wiped out the population of a country without any hesitation, but were careful not to destroy the olive orchards. However in the present state of international law it would be a very reckless orchard which did not move out at the approach of a modern army.

When the olive is not ground into oil it is pickled and eaten whole. Ship loads of olives are eaten in this country each year, but very few people who eat an olive for the first time forget their manners in grabbing for a second helping. Learning to like an olive is as much of a task as learning to appreciate impressionist art. Many a young man has sat at a fine party, slipping olives into his pocket and eagerly shouting for more, because his early education was neglectde.

OLD BLOCK HOUSE IS LOCATED BY MANY

cabin home of Father John Dixon in 1830, and for several years thereafter; but this effort, for various reasons, was given up for the time being

Now that the Lincoln Highway passes through Dixon the time seems ripe to again put forth an effort, not only of the D. A. R., but of the citizens in general to commemorate by a monument, or in some suitable manner, the location of the block house and the presence in Dixon of the martyrld president, Abraham Lincoln.

In 1901 the D. A. R. took great pains to obtain reliable information as to the identical spot where the block house was locatd. This was done by consulting many old settlers who were in Dixon between 1830 and 1840, at whica time the block house was still standing. Not only Mrs. E. B. Baker, but John Lord, J. W. Clute, "Aunt" Sally Herrick and others were interviewed and all agreed upon the same place. There is not a shadow of doubt that the site is corretly located.

All old paintings, of which there are several, were examined. Also the books and pamphlets to which Mr. Stevens refers.

Histrians do not agree as to the mustering in of Lincoln at the mouth of the Fox river. One author, by many considered the most reliable, says: "Lincoln was mustered in at the mouth of the Fox river by Lieut. Anderson," while another says he was not, but each seems to agree that on another date he was mustered in at Dixon's Ferry.

The writer was eighteen years old at the time of the fall of Ft. Sumter, and read everything published in the newpapers and later in books pertaining to the rebellion. Sutmer was usually spelled with a "p" and so pronounced, also one of the published histories uses the "p." Correct or not, has nothing to do, as before said, with the locating and marking of historic places in Illinois, especially in and about Dixon, in connection with the early life of Lincoln.

All know the ways of proof readers are peculiar but it was a little surprising that "grocery" should have been printed "shoe store," as happened in the article criticised.

Would it not have been more consistent if Mr. Stevens had adhered more closely to his text and not grasped the opportunity of exprssing his opinions, with which all are familiar, upon a subject not dwelt upon in the article

Why should he bring in the name of Jefferson Davis, when the interest of the writer was centered upon Lincoln and Davis was not even mentioned? What was still further from the subject and most surprising, was that the opportunity was taken to advertise a book of which the critic is the author

As neither Mr. Stevens nor the writer had been born at the time of the Black Hawk war, the same opportunities have been, and are, afforded to each to search for truth, possibly with the same satisfaction, but with somewhat varying results.

With the greatest respect for Mr. Stevens as a writer and scholar. DOROTHY N. LAW.

FIRE PERILS RAYMOND, ILL.

Heart of Business Section Has Blaze; Bank Barely Escapes.

Pana, Ill., Sept. 27.—Fire starting in Burch's bowling alleys in the heart of the business section of Raymond, west of Pana, laid in ashes half of the commercial section of the town. In addition to the destruction of the bowling alley building, the Empress Theater, Bishop grocery, Stephen Schulte bakery and restaurant and adjoining properties were burned. The First National Bank building took fire and for a time seemed certain of destruction. It was saved, however. At the height of the fire a boiler in the Harris barber shop, which also was burned, exploded. Its massive top was hurled 60 feet and through the display window of the George Miller hardware store.

LAID CORNERSTONE OF NEW U. I. BUILDING

CERAMICS HALL AT THE STATE UNIVERSITY TO BE ONE OF MOST COMPLETE.

(Associated Press)

Ubbana, Ill., Sept. 27—The cornerstone of the new ceramics building at the University of Illinois was placed this afternoon. A large crowd witnessed the ceremony. The building, it is said, will be one of the most complete of its kind in the world.

Wm. L. Abbott, president of the university's board of trustees, presided at the ceremonies at the University Auditorium. Other prominent men participating included Edward Orton Jr., dean of the college of engineering of Ohio state university; Richard J. Barr, Illinois state senator, and Wm. D. Gates, representing the advisory board for the department of ceramic engineers.

The new building will cost $125,000 including equipment. Work on it was started but a few weeks ago, and its completion is expected in time for the second semester's work. It will have a ground area of 67x189 feet, three stories high, with a basement. A corridor will connect the building with the kiln houses.

Construction of the new ceramics building marks an important step in both the college of engineering and the department of ceramics of the university.

GUNS ARE SHORT LIVED.

Their Incessant Firing Would Soon Destroy Them.

In a lecture on modern artillery at the Royal institution recently Lieut. Col. Radcock of Elswick, contrasted the life of big guns with that of a butterfly.

In the case of the latter, he supposed that twenty-four hours would be old age. The big gun, on the other hand, looked everlasting, but it only lived when it was being fired, and if an incessant stream of projectiles could be poured out from it its active life in that sense would be only twelve seconds.—London Times.

AMERICA TO FINANCE WORLD.

Henry Clews, in his weekly financial letter, says in part:

With a war which already has been in progress more than a year, costing Great Britain on an average of $17,500,000 a day and the other warring countries proportionate amounts, it is obvious that capital is being wasted, at a rate that even after the war has ended will require many years to gradually restore. The credits already voted for war purposes by the British House of Commons amount for instance to the almost incomprehensible sum of $6,310,000,000, and the end of the war unfortunately it still well into the future. clear lesson that for years to come there necessarily must be a scarcity of capital for the former European creditor nations to invest in the development of the weaker countries such for instance as the South American republics and even the broad areas of China and Russia and Africa. America will be called upon to assume the task for which our wealth and energy and genius so peculiarly fit us. No other source is available. Having reached maturity in our own financial stature, we must at once undertake our obligations to weaker nations. In this respect banking and maufacturing and transportation go hand in hand. Where our bankers supply the funds for building railroads, our locomotive works and car manufacturers will furnish the rolling stock and our steel companies the steel rails and bridges and our colleges the engineers. If congress can be induced to correct our navigation laws American ships will carry our exports to these nations and will bring in our imports from them. What is true of railroad development will apply to other branches of activities such as public utilities, building construction and the numerous other avenues for enterprise that so readily suggest themselves.

WHAT'LL YOU HAVE, ROPE OR BULLET?

Out in Utah a man has been condemned to die and in a few days he will be led to the chair of execution. The chair is not even the modern refinement of legal murder, the electric chair, however. The wretch will sit in his chair while six riflemen, crack shots, we are told, will shoot bullets through his heart. In Utah the state allows a condemned man to choose between shooting and hanging. There's a choice for you. This world is a long way from civilization.

GET ACQUAINTED WITH YOUR NEIGHBOR.

The Trenton, Missouri, Chamber of Commerce has a motto which reads: "Get acquainted with your neighbor—you might like him." And that little motto contains the whole secret of community upbuilding, both in town and country. Community interest is the thing, and community where all neighbors are the best acquainted and can work together for mutual benefits with the least friction is the community which has forged ahead. This idea is taking hold with firmer grip each year in Lee county and will ultimately do much good here.

THEY OWE AMERICA WHAT THEY HAVE.

The European who comes to this country, takes out naturalization papers, makes a home and earns his living under circumstances that are so much better than they were in Europe that all he has he owes to the government of the United States, and then when the safety, rights and neutrality of the United States are threatened, takes the side of his mother country, is an ungrateful and forgetful citizen. If he is so interested in the European affair that he wants to fight, he should go back and join the army.

UNCLE JOE ON THE PRESIDENT.

Uncle Joe Cannon, in a speech Saturday, said "A Word About President Wilson. I didn't vote for him. But in these perilous times, it is your duty to stand by the president." Uncle Joe speaks the sentiments of the nation. During the time that our country faces danger political lines are wiped out and the nation backs Mr. Wilson as one family.

In modern warfare, preparedness consists as much of a nation being able to subsist on the products of its own lands and its own hands, as upon its fighting strength. Germany's marvelous resistance to the combined powers is greatly because of her ability to be independent commercially and financially.

The garbage problem has been shifted over to another year, but enough interest has been stimulated in the city commission to promise concrete results next spring. We are hopeful for a garbage removal system and reduction plant next year.

Those Yaqui Indians are sweet tempered customers. When they can find nothing more amusing they put sixty or seventy women and children in a car, scatter hay through the car and roast the helpless occupants to death.

The weather man probably figures that his reputation is ruined anyway so he might as well be as devilish as possible and have all the fun he can.

This kind of weather is not making corn very fast.

CURRENT COMMENT

Chicago Tribune: We hope, knowing what new spirit is filling the American people, that by August, 1916, Uncle Sam will not be a bit less just and peaceable, but a terrific lot more able to make his righteous indignation effective.

Bloomington Pantagraph: The word of the government of Germany cannot be doubted, but there is a serious question as to the reliability of some of the submarine commanders who furnish it information.

Spokane Chronicle: To remedy the evils of the country school an educator speaking before the National Education Association advocated better teachers, better pay for them, better buildings and better sanitation. The logical inquiry is how to get these things, after admitting that they aren needed. The helpful, the edcators should go behind the conditions to the causes that bring them about. If it is accepted as a fact that the country schools lag far behind the city schools it will be profitable to compare the methods of organization The problem may be not how to abolish the one-room school as much as how to abolish the one-room district.

COULD NOT STAND ON FEET

Mrs. Baker So Weak—Could Not Do Her Work—Found Relief In Novel Way.

Adrian, Mich. — "I suffered terribly with female weakness and backache and got so weak that I could hardly do my work. When I washed my dishes I had to sit down and when I would sweep the floor I would get so weak that I would have to get a drink every few minutes, and before I did my dusting I would have to lie down. I got so poorly that my folks thought I was going into consumption. One day I found a piece of paper blowing around the yard and I picked it up and read it. It said 'Saved from the Grave,' and told what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for women. I showed it to my husband and he said, 'Why don't you try it?' So I did, and after I had taken two bottles I felt better and I said to my husband, 'I don't need any more,' and he said 'You had better take it a little longer anyway.' So I took it for three months and got well and strong." — Mrs. ALONZO E. BAKER, 9 Tecumseh St., Adrian, Mich.

Not Well Enough to Work.

In these words is hidden the tragedy of many a woman, housekeeper or wage earner who supports herself and is often helping to support a family, on meagre wages. Whether in house, office, factory, shop, store or kitchen, woman should remember that there is one tried and true remedy for the ills to which all women are prone, and that is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It promotes that vigor which makes work easy. The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

REACH COMPROMISE ON FRANKLIN ROAD

OBJECTORS AND CITY COME TO AGREEMENT—WORK TO BE DONE.

RIVER STREET IS CONTINUED

Three local improvement matters were taken up in the county court this morning. In the matter of the construction of a sewer or Ottaka avenue, starting south of the intersection of Third street, south to Seventh street, judgment on the assessment roll was confirmed. Several objectors appeared on the improvement of the Franklin Grove road with a concrete roadway from the intersection of Chicago street east about four hundred feet. The objections were based upon the ground that the assessment was in excess of actual benefits to be derived. A conference was held between objectors and city officials and a compromise was reached and an order will be entered to have the commissioner who spread the assessment recast the assessment roll and the new roll will no doubt be confirmed by the court.

MANDAMUS SUIT IS CONTINUED FOR TIME

PARTIES TO HARMON DRAINAGE CASE AGREE TO CONTINUANCE

The petit jurors for the second and third weeks of the circuit court reported this afternoon. The appealed case of Downing & Fruin vs Nathan Morrill for trial this afternoon was settled out of court and there being no other work for the jury they were excused until tomorrow when the case of Charles Clayton vs M. J. Kent is set for hearing. Several months ago the plaintiff contends he was driving along the roadway west of Amboy when his buggy was struck by an automobile being driven by the defendant and he has brought the suit for damages to the rig.

This afternoon a hearing was had on the petition for divorce filed by Elsie Luce against her husband, William B. Luce. After the hearing of evidence in the case a decree was granted by the court.

The hearing on the mandamus proceeding brought by certain land owners against the Commissioners of Union Drainage District No. 1 of Harmon and Marion set for today in the court, was by agreement continued until a later date. It is likely that the interested parties will reach a satisfactory agreement between themselves.

The lower photograph was taken on the International Bridge. It shows American soldiers finding the range for the cannon nearby. Now everything is in place and an attack from Matamoras may mean serious trobule.

"This defendant by his plea of guilty evidences signs of remorse for his carelessness and does not assume an attitude of defiance of the law which is an element proper to consider in imposing the penalty.

"These considerations move the Court to the belief that the proper punishment, under the charges made, for the defendant Horace Cartwright is a fine of $100.00 and costs and as to the defendants Williams Hermsmeier and Ralph Wilson I order them each to pay a fine of $150.00, and costs.

"These penalties will be mere incidents compared to the remorse and regret which all concerned will doubt less feel after realing the terrible injuries thez two young victims have sustained through careless driving, and their providential escape from death has saved these defendants from a charge of homicide."

FIND FORMER BANKER AND WIFE MURDERED

Captain and Mrs. Robert Mueller Slain in Home.

Princeton, Wis., Sept. 27.—Captain Robert Mueller, former banker of Milwaukee and a member of governor's staff of the National Guard, and his wife, were found slain in the smoldering ruins of their summer cottage at Puckaway Lake, Wisconsin. Their skulls were crushed and the cottage fired in an evident attempt to hide the crime.

The bodies were found by volunteer firemen from a near-by village, who extinguished the flames. At first it was believed both had been burned to death in bed. An examination of the bodies showed, however, that the skulls of both had been crushed, while the head of Captain Mueller had been severed from the body and mutilated.

Not a trace of the slayers or a clew of any kind has been found. The authorities are in the dark because the Muellers were practically camping in their place without servants so late in the seasan, and no one saw either the killing or the fire until the house was a mass of ruins. Captain Mueller had been having trouble with poachers and revenge may have been the motive of the slaying.

PRISON FOR RICH SWINDLERS

Ohio Capitalists Who Defrauded Government in Revenue Tax Sentenced.

Columbus, O., Sept. 27.—Dennis Kelly, Columbus capitalist, and his business associates, who last June were convicted of defrauding the government of more than $1,000,000 in revenue tax on artificially colored oleomargarine, were sentenced to serve two years each in the penitentiary at Moundsville, W. Va., and fined $1,000 each by Federal District Judge Sater here.

Notice of the appeal was immediately filed, and a stay of execution until Dec. 6 was allowed.

ALLIES SWEEP BACK GERMANS

Paris Claims Fifteen Miles of Trenches Taken.

Berlin, via London, Sept. 27.—A repulse of a German division near Loos, northwest of Lens, with considerable casualties and the loss of materials, is admitted in the German official communication made public here. The evacuation of an advanced German position north of Perthes, between Rheims and the Argonne forest, also is admitted by the war office.

London, Sept. 27.—The greatest victory for the allied arms since the battle of the Marne, when the strategy of General Joffre and Sir John French saved Paris, has crowned the first move of the great Franco-British drive to hurl the Germans from France.

Almost a year to the day since the great battle, which marked the end of the German advance into France, Joffre and French have hurled their legions at the German line with a violence for which they have been months in preparing.

As a result, the German position, which extends in the form of a right-angled triangle from Ypres south to a point northeast of Compiegne, thence directly east through Rheims to a point north of Verdun, is in imminent danger of envelopment and annihilation unless the allied drive is stopped short. The Germans only chance of safely lies in straightening out this line by a retreat to the Belgian border that will eclipse in magniture the famous retreat from the Marne.

Twenty thousand Germans have been taken prisoners by the French and British in terrific battles in France in the last two days, according to official announcement of the British and French war departments.

The French army in the Champagne district penetrated the German lines along a front of fifteen miles and for a depth at some plaices of two and a half miles, the announcement adds. Souchez has been stormed and captured by French troops.

British Make Big Gain.

The British captured five miles of trenches south of La Bassee canal and east of Vermelles. In some instances the British troops penetrated the German positions for 4,000 yards.

The British claim to have captured the western outskirts of Hulluch, the village of Loos, the mining works around it and hill No. 70.

Bombard Coast Positions.

British warships and French and Belgian batteries also have heavily bombarded the German positions on the coast between Zeebrugge and Nieuport.

The offensive which resulted in the French and British victory began Saturday morning. For several weeks there has been an almost incessant bombardment with big guns, which late last week increased in intensity, particularly in the sectors where the infantry attacks took place.

The French, who have the most important gain to their credit, made their chief onset against the German lines around Perthes, Beausejour and Suippes, in Champagne, where in December they made a considerable gain of ground. Saturday's attack, however, backed by a tremendous artillery fire, gave them possession of more territory than they had retaken from the Germans since the latter dug themselves in after the battle of the Marne.

The importance of this gain lies in the fact that every yard of ground taken in this region weakens the German position around Verdun, from which the Germans might be compelled to retire should the French succeed in making any further advance.

The French also have regained the cemetery of Souchez and trenches east of the "Labyrinth," in the Arras district, which was the scene of much heavy fighting earlier in the year. There the Germans had built what they considered almost impregnable fortifications.

TWO STATES HIT BY CLOUDBURST

Water Two to Ten Feet Deep at Galena, Ill.

CANOES RUN TO POSTOFFICE

Landslides by Dozen Tie Up Traffic in Iowa—Catfish Creek Rises Thirty Feet in Four Hours—Thousands of Acres of Maturing Corn Are Wholly Destroyed.

Galena, Ill., Sept. 27.—Galena is covered with water from two to ten feet as the result of a cloudburst north of here. The property damage to Galena business houses and to farm lands will reach thousands of dollars.

The first floors of four hotels filled with county fair visitors are flooded. Business houses on Main street and factories and foundries on Commerce street also are flooded.

Blasts from the waterworks whistle gave the alarm that water was swooping down on the city. Citizens left their homes and found canoes and launches running up and down Main street. Canoes ran in and out of the postoffice lobby.

Not a railroad train has moved since early in the morning.

The Illinois Central and Northwestern railroads lost thousands of feet of track by landslides and washouts, and the Northwestern will be tied up several days.

Heavy Damage in Iowa.

Dubuque, Ia., Sept. 27.—With dozens of landslides, numerous bridges damaged and five miles of track washed out between Dubuque and Farley, Ia., the Great Western is detouring all trains over the Illinois Central as far as Dyersville. The latter road had numerous landslides and a few washouts, but managed to get trains running at noon.

This damage was caused by floods in the Maquoketa and Catfish Creek valleys following a fall of 4.76 inches of rain in fifteen hours ending at 7 o'clock in the morning.

Thousands of acres of corn just maturing is lying flat on the ground and wholly destroyed.

PRESIDENT SLURRED; TWO LEAVE ALLIANCE

Speech By Lawyer Causes German-American Ruction.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 27.—A speech in which it is alleged President Wilson was referred to as a "jackass," an "ape," and a "crook," has split the German-American alliance of St. Louis in two and threatens to disrupt the organization, it became known.

Paul O. Sommer, financial secretary, and Albert Von Hoffman, director, already have resigned their membership in the alliance. The speech in question was made by Kurt von Reppert, a lawyer, who denied that he used the words objected to as epithets, and said his sentences were misconstrued.

Von Hoffman, a well known aeronaut, jumped to his feet in the midst of Von Reppert's speech and declared: "I am proud of both my Kaisers, Wilhelm and Franz Joseph, but I am prouder of the fact that my son is a second lieutenant in the United States army. I resign."

SUCCESS WITH FLOWERS

By James Hutchinson, Assistant in Floriculture, University of Illinois.

NEXT spring, when nature is waking from her winter sleep, most people will become enthusiastic over the idea of having a flower garden, and, in true American fashion, will want to begin "right-away." The buoyancy of the atmosphere and the optimism of the spring catalog are stronger than the recollection of past failures. So they begin to scratch up the ground, making it above all things else, level and neat on the surface, regardless of conditions underground; when it looks all right, they plant and sow. Everything seems to go favorably until the bright hot days come, when the plants begin to wilt; then the hose is brought out and the garden religiously sprinkled every evening. Somehow the plants, although they "freshen up" after watering, do not grow much, and they look very disconsolate and unhappy when the really hot days of July and August come. Gradually our amateur florists come to realize that the spring catalog is a "snare and a delusion," and reluctantly give up the idea of having cutflowers for the table and living rooms and go on long vacations, leaving the gardens to care for themselves.

THE FLORICULTURAL SUNKEN GARDENS AT THE UNIVERSITY.

Conserving Moisture.

In September, when the days and nights are cooler and the fall rains moisten the ground, the plants revive and grow, but for a short time only. The nights soon become too cold for the plants to resist. Thus the garden dreams for another year are ended. The gardeners will probably do the same things the next year, but in the meantime they are too much discouraged to think about it. If they thought more about it, they might discover the cause of their failure and do better next time. Elementary botany teaches that there are three essentials to plant growth: light, heat and moisture. In those gardens there was an abundance of light and heat; as for moisture, the gardens were watered often perhaps every day, but by nine or ten the next morning the ground was dry again. Our friends might ask, "Is there any way to conserve the moisture which we supply?" There is an easy way. By getting out early in the morning and hoeing lightly, a dust mulch which will prevent the loss of moisture by capillary action will be formed on the surface of the ground. There is a handy tool for this purpose called in England a "Dutch hoe," and in this country an "English hoe."

Trenching.

There is a far better way, however, to meet the moisture problem; while it entails a certain amount of labor, the effort is well repaid by the results obtained. This is by trenching. Trenching is simply deep digging. The writer knows of no book that describes just the kind of trenching that he recommends. It is the kind he has recommended in many parts of the country, always with good results. The main object in trenching is to dig up the subsoil and place beneath it a stratum of manure. This manure has a wonderfully beneficial effect upon the soil in dry weather.

In beginning to trench a piece of ground, mark it off into three foot sections as wide as the border. Remove the top soil from the first section to the opposite end. Then dig out the subsoil to the opposite end, but keep it apart form the top soil. Then remove the top soil from the second section one spading deep. Throw into the first trench about twelve inches of half- rotted manure, using for this porpose any kind that is not too dry. Throw the subsoil over from the second trench into the first and mix with fairly good manure. When the subsoil has been transferred from the second to the first to the proper depth in the second, the top soil from the third is then used to replace that taken from the first and the process repeated until the ground is all trenched. The whole will be considerably higher than before, but will soon settle.

Manure As Reservoir.

The advantages gained are many. The subsoil is enriched, and the plant roots are encouraged to do downward. The manure subsoil is just what is needed to conserve moisture, and when watering becomes necessary and is done thoroughly, this manure serves as a reservoir from which the soil can draw its moisture in dry weather. Daily watering is not necessary. In very dry weather a thorough watering once each week is sufficient. After watering or after a rain, a dust mulch should be formed by hoeing.

In planting a garden the object should be to have a succession of flowers from spring until fall. The most interesting border is one composed almost entirely of hardy perennial plants. Bulbs may be used for spring effects. Annuals may also be used effectively. It would be advisable for the beginning to depend for main efforts on the common or hardier varieties, using the mose difficult or tender kinds in an experimental way.

Flowers to Grow.

Many garden plants usually considered impossible to grow can be grown successfully upon trenched soil. Sweet peas planted early in soil trenched the previous fall give a surprisingly large number of flowers in May or June. Even such delicate subjects as tuberous rooted begonias can be grown, providing they are planted in a semi-shady position. These beautiful flowers alone will more than repay the trouble of trenching.

Space will not permit the discussion of the varieties of perennials that may be used. No garden should be without the holly hocks, lark spurs, columbies, cone-flowers, sunflowers, phloxes, Canterbury bells, and asters. These will all be benefited by the trenching of the soil, and perhaps by next summer, if trenching is begun now, flowers will be available for the decoration of the home.

Attractiveness in Serving

IT seems to me that it is an easy enough task to make a salid or a desert attractive. They are attractive in themselves. It is the common dishes which we serve every day which are the difficult ones to make attractive. There are a few general cautions concerning every day service. Do not fill the cup so full of coffee, tea, or any other beverage that the beverage will run into the saucer. Do not fill water glasses too full. Do not serve food—mashed potatoes, for instance—in the same dish in which you prepared it; put them in clean, warm serving dishes. Do not carelessly spill food on the edge or outside when transferring it to the serving dishes. Be careful about grease spots on the edge of the platter on which meat is served. If you have a thin creamed vegetable do not serve it on a dinner plate, because it wil run into the other food on the plate. Of course, some people do not object to this; nevertheless, it should be the object of a careful housewife to serve dishes in such a manner that no one can object. —Marjorie Sutcliffe, graduate of University of Illinois.

The Best Type of Draft Horse

WHEN a man states that a horse of any particular type or breed is the best he is sure to get into an argument. Every man who has had farm experience has in memory some noble animal which was capable of doing a great amount of work in the most satisfactory manner. That horse has become his ideal as the most useful farm horse. The interesting point of the matter is that you seldom find two men who idealize the same type of horse.

Horse have what we call personality the same as men. In order to succeed a man must fit the place he aspires to fill and the place must fit the man. The same is true of the horse. The best horse is, as we commonly see it, the one best suited for the particular service which he is expected to render.—C. J. Thomas.

Carnival's Other Attractions to Include Balloon Ascension From Midstream and Race Between Aeroplane and Hydroplane.

The grand finale of the St. Louis Fall Festivities, October 4 to 10, inclusive, will be a Mississippi River Carnival, including a parade of more than 200 decorated motor boats, speed-boat races for cash prizes, a rowing race, a balloon ascension from midstream, with Captain H. E. Honeywell as pilot, and a race between an aeroplane and a hydroplane.

An invitation to all boat owners in the Mississippi Valley to participate in the carnival, which will take place the afternoon of Sunday, October 10, has been issued by Col. C. C. Butler, chairman of the River Carnival Committee, the headquarters of which is at the American Hotel, in St. Louis.

Chairman Butler Announces Plans.

"The parade and races will be open, absolutely without cost, to all boat owners, whether affiliated with any club or not and whether residing at St. Louis, Chicago, New Orleans or any other Mississippi Valley city," says Chairman Butler in his letter of invitation, which is addressed "To All Boat Owners," and copies of which have been mailed to each boat club in the Middle West.

"The parade will be in charge of Captain Quincy L. Slocumb, chairman of the River Parade Committee, who has chosen as associates on that committee Mr. Judson H. Boughton, commodore of the St. Louis Yacht Club; Dr. E. M. Whitsett, commodore of the Carondelet Motor Boat Club; Mr. F. G. Reinheimer, Jr., commodore of the South Side Motor Boat Club; Mr. Fountain Rothwell, collector of customs, and Mr. William J. McDonald, supervising inspector of steam vessels.

Decorations to Be Free.

"Each entrant shall report at noon Sunday, October 10, at the place where he previously shall have applied for his package of decorations and receive two 14x22-inch placards, each bearing the number allotted to his boat.

Balloon Rises as Parade Starts.

"Boats not caring to anchor while awaiting the start of the parade may tie to barges which will be provided near the Missouri shore just below the Free Bridge. A gun fired at 1:45 p. m. will notify the boats to get ready. A second gun, at 1:55 p. m., will be the signal to fall in line, below the Free Bridge, according to directions of Captain Slocumb. A third gun, at 2 p. m. sharp, will announce the start of the parade north from the Free Bridge. As the third gun is fired the balloon 'Missouri' will ascend, thus co-operating in the announcement of the carnival's formal opening.

"All boats must remain throughout the parade in the order assigned by the chairman. The judges will award the prizes by number. Directions from the patrol boats must be obeyed without question. The policing of the river will be directed by government officials. The head of the parade will turn at North Market street and move down-stream, still in order, to the starting point (Free Bridge). After the parade all participating boats will anchor in mid-stream, between the Eads and Free bridges.

How to Enter Events.

"Those desiring to enter the parade should mail at once to Mr. W. A. Logan, chairman of the Committee on Decorations, foot of North Market street, St. Louis, their name and address and the size and style of their boat.

"Those desiring further particulars as to the speed-boat races, which will be for cash prizes, should communicate with Mr. Judson H. Boughton, chairman of the Committee on Speed-Boat Races, Pierce Building, St. Louis.

"The rowing race, which will be down stream between the Eads and Free bridges and which will be open to all six-oar crews, will start immediately after the conclusion of the parade and will finish a few minutes before the commencement of the first of the speed-boat races. Further particulars of the rowing race may be obtained from Dr. Arthur M. Stockhoff, chairman of the Rowing Race Committee, 3010 South Grand avenue, St. Louis."

WHERE DOES SPOUSE GET INTO HIS GAME?

Wife Accused of Kidnaping Own Baby from Relative.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Mrs. Margaret Carlson, twenty-two years old, was arrested on receipt of a telegram from the chief of police at Peoria, Ill., charged with kidnaping her fourteen-months-old son. The message to the Chicago police said that Mrs. Carlson and a man had forcibly taken the child from Mrs. Edna Millman at Peoria Friday morning and had driven away in an automobile.

At the police station Mrs. Carlson said she and her husband, Charles Carlson, had been members of a theatrical company and had left the child in care of Mrs. Carlson's mother here.

Mrs. Millman is a distant relative, she said, and had taken such a fancy to the child that, without permission of the parents, she had taken the little one from here to her home in Peoria. All attempts to get the boy had failed, and, acting on the advice of a Chicago clergyman, she had hired a detective and seized the boy from Mrs. Millman.

PLAIN QUESTIONS TO DIXON PEOPLE

EVERY DIXON READER WILL ADMIT THE SOUNDNESS OF THE LOGIC

Would Dixon people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as they do if the medicine were not reliable? Would they confirm their statements after years have elapsed if their experiences did not show the remedy to be deserving of it? Statements like the following must carry conviction to the mind of every reader:

John Edons, 812 W. Fifth St., Dixon says: "I suffered from a lame back and my kidneys were out of order. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Leake Bros. Co.'s Drug Stare, removed the lameness in my back and regulated the action of my kidneys. Another of the family got permanent benefit from Doan's Kidney Pills." (Statement given July 5th, 1910.)

OVER FOUR YEARS LATER, Mr Edons said: "I still use Doan's Kidney Pills when I feel any symptoms of kidney trouble and they never fail to help me."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Edons had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

HAVE YOU THE QUESTION OF COAL ON YOUR MIND?

We came into this world all naked and bare
Life is full of trouble and care;
When we die we go, we know not where,
But it is better to buy our coal here

BULGARIAN PLAN NOT AGGRESSIVE

Balkan Nation Announces Purpose of Mobilization.

WILL GUARD FRONTIER POST

Action Is Styled a "Preventative Measure" in Case Teutons Penetrate to Vidin—Rights and Independence to Be Defended—Dispatch Sent Before Greek Mobilization.

London, Sept. 27.—The Bulgarian government officially communicated to the powers a note stating, in the most categorical fashion, that the mobilization of the Bulgarian army was ordered in the national interest, and that it had not the slightest offensive character.

The text of the note is virtually the same as the wording of the semi-official statement issued at Sofia Sept. 23, which said that "the entry of Bulgaria into a state of armed neutrality is explained by changes which recently occurred in the political situation" and that "Bulgaria has not the slightest aggressive intention, but is firmly resolved to be fully armed to defend her rights and independence."

Precedes Greek Action.

The official note to the powers also was dispatched from Sofia on Sept. 23, so that it was framed before Greek mobilization had been decided upon.

A dispatch from Athens to the Exchange Telegraph company says:

"The Bulgarian minister today declared that the mobilization of the Bulgarian army was not directed toward any attack against Greece or Serbia, but that it constituted a preventive measure in case Austro-German troops should advance as far as Vidin."

Says Bulgars Wish Only Neutrality.

Rome, Sept. 27.—M. Slaucioff, the Bulgarian minister here, receiving a number of journalists, stated that Bulgaria wishes to maintain an independent armed neutrality similar to that maintained by Switzerland and Holland.

Greece Prepared for Eventualities.

Athens, Sept. 27.—King Constantine held a decisive conference with Premier Venizelos and M. Dusmanis, chief of staff. After the conference a statement was issued to the effect that Greece was fully prepared for any eventuality.

500,000 ARMENIANS KILLED

American Committee Would Urge Teutons to Check Moslem Ally.

New York, Sept. 27.—A preliminary report of the committee on Armenian atrocities issued asserts that it has evidence which tends to show that probably a half million Armenians have been murdered since March or have been driven into the desert to die of starvation and exposure unless speedy relief reaches them. The committee consists of Professor Samuel T. Dutton, Charles R. Crane, Cleveland H. Dodge, D. S. Dodge, Arthur C. James, J. R. Mott, Rabbi Stephens Wise, Frank M. North, Stanley White, James L. Burton, William Sloane and others.

The statement intimates that the United States should bring pressure to bear on Germany and Austria to force Turkey to put a stop to the massacre of Armenians.

Willhide was a former Kentucky gambler.

Loan Mission Coming West.

New York, Sept. 27.—The Anglo-French mission having practically established accord with the financiers of the eastern section of the country over the credit to be established for stablizing foreign exchange, four of the members of the mission left today for Chicago where they will obtain expressions of opinion from Western bankers on the proposition.

Cleveland Steel Magnate Killed.
